HEAD OF SCHOOL

Mr. Norman Southward

Dear Students,

Throughout the seasons on campus, you captured much of the Ashbury spirit – challenging academics, vibrant arts and culture, fierce and friendly athletic competition, and an outward view of the world.

The catalogue of activities you lived is exhaustive and the sense for community that you built along the way, striking. However, reflecting back on the year, we need to consider how we have helped students prepare for their futures, and how can we continue to construct programs for relevancy, character development, career preparation, and citizenship?

Beyond the merits of any particular subject discipline, the real difference we can make for you is ensuring a depth of learning that pushes higher order thinking as the key to excellence. Literary journalist Amanda Ripley's recent book "The Smartest Kids in the World... and how they got that way" explores the deficits of various national education systems, and the success of others. She notes that "all children must learn rigorous higher order thinking to thrive in the modern world. The only way is to do so is by creating a serious intellectual culture in schools, one that kids can sense is real and true".

This is what I have seen at Ashbury this year – a deeper level of learning across a range of subject areas and in activities that fall outside of the academic day – essentially a growing intellectual culture, and one that is not void of fun.

Record IB enrolment, increased course offerings, Ashbury's first ever TEDx event – student initiated and holding the theme of "The pursuit of progress", a SMART Science research team pursuing "the potential of P19 as a suppressor of protein diseases", national Math contests, international debating competition, youth philanthropy and service and many guest speakers– are just sampling of our growing intellectual culture.

Whether frenetic or focused, I can also attest that your dialogue this year as students has been authentic and that you have ventured into important and sometimes difficult topics – social media, the multitude of global incidents of terror, race and religion, indigenous issues and reconciliation and sexual orientation. I am proud of your diversity and your differences – you have kept our discussions both open and respectful, and you have not fallen victim to rhetoric or the grasp of sensationalist headlines.

As students you are helping redefine "respect" at Ashbury, moving the concept from a perhaps a hierarchical view, essentially one of "obedience", to one which the Oxford dictionary defines as "treating with consideration" and "having due regard for someone's feelings, wishes, or rights". Although far from perfect, this is the kind of respect that I am seeing and we will continue to foster in students – a respect of mutuality that is open to the world and celebrates difference. Nous continuons à persévérer à créer un climat qui est sensible à toute différence dans notre communauté.

Congratulations to the class of 2016, and to all students, Junior and Senior, on a terrific school year!

Mr. Norman Southward
Head of School

HEAD OF SENIOR SCHOOL Mr. Gary Godkin

"No man ever steps in the same river twice." (Plato, 402a) This concept was first introduced by a Greek philosopher who predates Plato, Heraclitus of Ephesus, who insisted that ever-present change is the fundamental essence of the universe. A common translation is the phrase, the only thing that remains constant in life is change and this belief certainly rings true for life at Ashbury.

The 2015-16 school year brought many new and exciting changes to the College. While laptops have been present in many classrooms for quite some time, the senior school implemented a Bring Your Own Device (BYOD) program requiring all students to have a laptop for all classes. Many teachers seized this opportunity to introduce innovative ways to deliver curriculum. For a large percentage of our students, 2015-16 may be remembered as the year of KAHOOT IT. Recognizing the need for transparency and timely feedback, we also introduced online marks, and although there are still some wrinkles to iron out, it has been a welcomed change to life in the Senior School. We had several new teachers in the Senior School who have been a great addition to our faculty bringing with them enthusiasm, passion and a strong desire to learn and expand their repertoire of classroom strategies and activities. This year also saw the introduction of 'prefect co-captains' and co-leaders for all prefect portfolios ensuring gender equity in our student leadership.

It would be remiss if I did not take this opportunity to mention one more big change for Ashbury. Mr. Mousseau, our current Assistant Head, Student Services and previously Assistant Head, Academics, is leaving. He has worked tirelessly to improve the student experience and to ensure that the program we deliver is of the highest standards. Mr. Mousseau is a dear friend and a respected colleague. Mr. Mousseau, I wish you all the best in your new endeavours and I want you to know that you will be missed.

As for the changes that lie ahead, I am excited about the endless possibilities. Whether it is in the form of new teachers, new technology, new classrooms, and I cannot forget new students, change is coming so we need to be prepared to seize opportunities when they present themselves and always look for the positives.

DEPUTY HEAD

Mr. Brian Storosko

Teaching and Learning Relationships at Ashbury

The strength of the teaching and learning environment at Ashbury is based on the strong connections that are established between students, their teachers, coaches and advisors.

As staff we observe these connections every day: some students connect when they arrive early to fill the lower Common Learning Centre (CLC) music rooms with melodic tunes; others arrive early to meet in Maclaren Hall over breakfast or gather on project work with peers. During the student/teacher advisory group meetings connections are made with peers whether the topic be serious and focused, like university application criteria, or light and humorous while brainstorming ideas for Spirit Day.

Learning doesn't stop at lunch: students use this down time for clubs and co-curriculars or meet one-on-one with teachers or peers for extra help or conversations. After school the sports fields and art spaces are filled with engaged students. There are times during the year when the CLC is a bustling space with groups studying into the early evening hours. Finally, our on-line and social media links are always buzzing as students and teachers continue to connect with each other and learning partners around the world.

Ashbury learning extends far beyond the daily routines that occur in each classroom—in part, learning at Ashbury is about connecting with each other. It is through the strength of these connections that students cement life-long friendships and memories of Ashbury College.

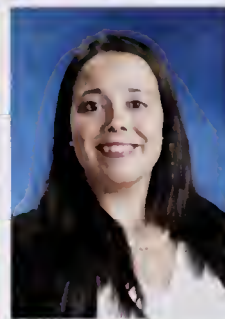

As you flip through your year book in the days and years ahead, we hope your fond memories will motivate you to continue to build strong relationships with those you meet on your life's journey.

Opening

Excitement, anticipation, pride and a sense of belonging are the combined emotions that many students experienced on the first day of the 2016 school year. For returning staff and students, the familiarity is comforting and exhilarating. For new faculty and students, the nerves for the unknown are embraced with enthusiasm.

This is all only fitting to happen on the front lawn of the school that many of us fondly call our second home. Together, the entire student body and faculty welcome and usher in another exceptional school year.

Homecoming was a blast! The sports teams were out in full force, and the fans were great support! We had an amazing couple of soccer games, nail-biting football games, and a bouncy castle! To start off the festivities, we had a short run around the neighbourhood, where alumni, teachers, and students raced against each other. Other events during the day included a face paint station, a wonderful lunch and school tours.

House Run

This year's House Run brought all Senior School students together for a pleasant jog - or fierce race - through the Rockcliffe area.

Ms. Wall, a big fan of the event, reflects: "It's the only time when we're all outside moving through nature."

A big thanks to the new House Captains for organizing the event, to all the teacher facilitators, to the kitchen staff for providing a barbecue lunch, and to all of the students who came out to participate in this Ashbury classic!

Watch out, it's voting time at the College! Ashbury students elected to come out in full force and show their support for Canadian political parties in our student mock election. In the end, the Conservative Party won with seven more votes than the Liberals. This opportunity to generate more interest in the political process and elections was great, especially amidst current political developments around the world. Hopefully, our students continue to be informed and excited about voting!

Remembrance Day

This year's Remembrance Day ceremony featured the story of William Frank Tudhope, an alumnus killed in August 1940 while flying over the Netherlands. Ayisha Gariba reflected on the contribution made by African nations which included several stories from her own family concerning the horrors of war. Navy veteran Mr. Alex Polowin spoke of his experiences during WWII and provided an unusual ending to the ceremony with some lively harmonica tunes. Thank you to all of those involved who helped ensure that those who have passed are not forgotten.

This year's Monte Carlo was a huge success, with the biggest turnout to date! The theme was The Great Gatsby, and the event featured student performances, table games, a henna booth and a Wheel of Fortune.

Overall, we raised $15,823.15 for the Prince Alexander Fund, the Inuit Children's Centre and Christie Lake Kids.

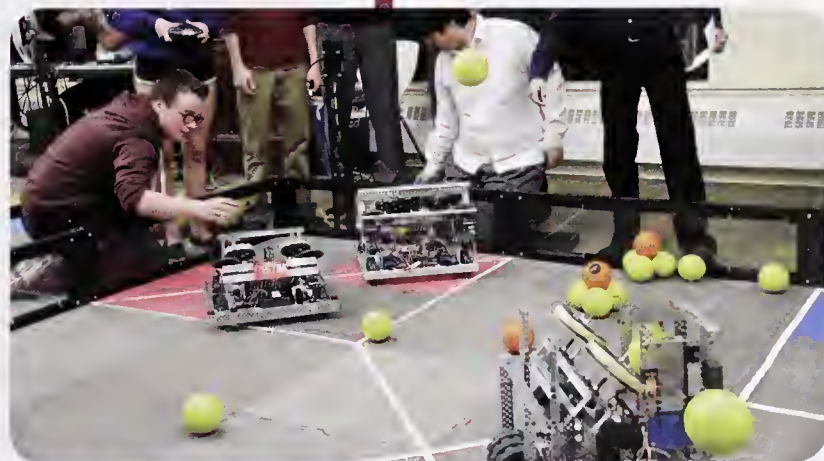

Thank you to everyone who helped put this exciting philanthropic event together!

Captain Claus

Visitors to Ashbury in December this year would instantly notice the wonderful holiday spirit. For the first time ever, both Santa and Mrs Claus made an appearance and took some time to pose for group photos with students. Throughout the week, we also got to enjoy holiday movie showings in the theatre, hot cocoa and marshmallows, a cookie decorating station, a gingerbread house competition and some amazing vocal talent at holiday karaoke. Needless to say, holiday spirit was in the air as classes wrapped up and students headed off for the break.

This year during our Black History Month assembly, Professor St. Lewis addressed the school with an empowering, direct and heartfelt message. Student performances also contributed to our greater appreciation of the enduring inequalities found within our society.

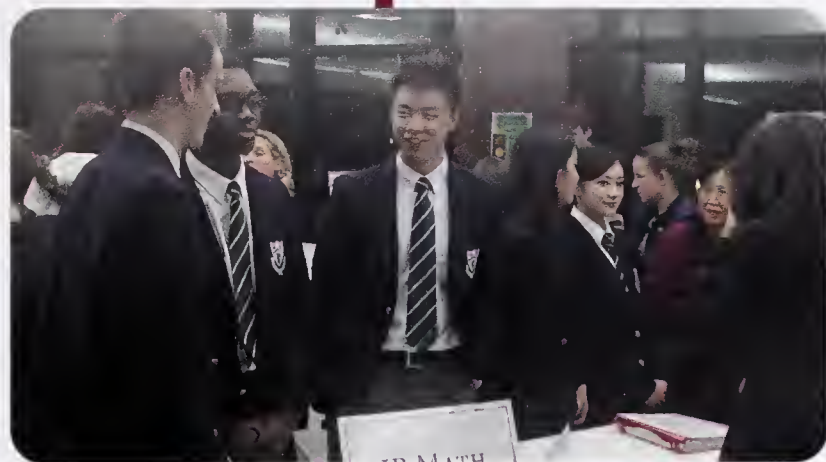

In addition to this school-wide event, there were weekly performances and speeches that helped broaden students' knowledge on themes of inclusivity and civic responsibility.

Oliver!

This year's musical was an Ashbury take on Lionel Bart's musical adaptation of the Charles Dickens' classic Oliver Twist. The two-act drama follows young orphan Oliver as he navigates life in Victorian England. The massive cast and crew put on an amazing production, but they couldn't have done it without the support of Ms. Maynard, Ms. Froggett and Mr. Coles. Many thanks to all involved for giving these students the opportunity to engage in the community through acting, singing, dancing and design.

Ashbury College held its annual International Day with the theme of "Our Home and Native Land". The guest speakers, Waubgeshig Rice from CBC and activist/former Olympic athlete Waneek Horn-Miller, along with the Blanket Exercise and the MUN simulation on the War of 1812 were very informative. The day continued with student performances, delicious food booths and a fashion show. Altogether, it was a very successful event that represented the many cultures and communities.

Featuring a range of performance and interactive activities for those attending, the Art Show was an absolute success.

Springtime Funtime

Springtime Funtime this year was better than ever, featuring an indoor relay as rainy weather pushed some of the festivities inside.

Both senior and junior school students had to collaborate for the relay, making it intense and even more enjoyable to watch and participate in. The barbecue was wonderful, and the event concluded with Mr Southward swimming in the dunk tank. All in good fun.

Overall, a superb afternoon was spent with great friends, amazing events and tons of spirit and enthusiasm!

This year, over 300 students and teachers from Ashbury participated in Ottawa Race Weekend. We had participants in the 5k, 10k, half marathon and full marathon. Decked out in neon yellow, the Ashbury team was one of the biggest teams in Ottawa Race. This year, we raised more than $22,000 for the Ottawa Hospital.

ANTHONY

Being an Ashbury Co-Captain this year was an experience like no other. Along with Jasmine, my amazing co-captain, and the prefect team, we took on this year's new leadership system and all the challenges that came with it. I am so proud of the teamwork and enthusiasm that everyone brought to the table, and couldn't have asked for better company.

Being a co-captain also meant embracing a role that was larger than myself, and striving to make the most of that role. I am so grateful for the opportunities presented by my position to participate in discussion about the school, to meet and connect with new people, and to voice the opinions of the student body. While leadership was always a passion of mine, I never actually won a leadership role in high school until senior year as co-captain. To everyone who is interested in leadership: don't give up. Keep pushing to make an impact in your school and community.

It has been a long six years at Ashbury, and I still remember my quiet, rocky beginnings as I started grade 7. I can't thank enough those who supported me and the friends who helped me through it all. I'm a strong believer in knowing your values and always holding them close. Find the people who support you for who you are, and be kind.

Best of luck to Scott, Karina and next year's leaders, you will do amazing work. Thank you Ashbury for the lessons and the memories, I can't wait to see the future of this great school.

CO-CAPTAINS

Any School Captain's experience cannot be fully shared without an appreciation and understanding of the students and faculty that are a part of that school. The vivacity and tendency that Ashburians have to surpass any and all expectations in all aspects of school sums it up. It has truly been a privilege and honor to be Ashbury's School Co-Captain for the 2015-2016 school year.

Previous year's student leadership team collaborated to create this year's first ever male/female leadership model, giving a voice and representation to each gender in every facet of the school. It has been incredible being a part of this exciting and monumental change.

A huge thank you to all the faculty and staff who helped make this year a wonderful success. Special thanks to Mr. Lamont for his stewardship in acclimating us to the new model, and for his overall guidance and support. Finally, to the beating heart of the college, thank you to all the students in the Junior and Senior school for making this year so phenomenal. Your passion and excitement brings the walls to life - you have been my inspiration and undeniably the greatest reward.

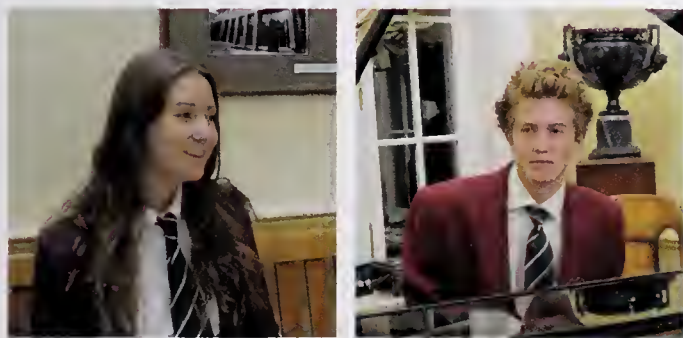

As the departing School Co-Captain, I am humbled by all that I have learned and experienced at Ashbury. Being so involved with the students and student life this past year has really reinforced that as students we are in the best possible learning environment. I couldn't have asked for a better way to end my time at Ashbury. Best of luck to my fellow graduates of 2016 and best wishes to the incoming leadership team and every student at Ashbury.

GRADS 2016

As the 2016 graduates roam and stroll through the hallways of the school for the last time, they trade in their younger selves for the now prepared and mature young adults they have become. Ashbury has readied and groomed these graduates for their paths and the worlds they will face ahead. What they leave behind at the college is their own individual legacies. It has been nothing short of an incredible year for this graduating class, as they have made their way through their senior year with grace and an incredible spirit, excelling in all aspects of their school lives. Only the best and most formidable wishes go to this fantastic group of graduates.

Cheers, Grads of

From 8J fight club and jumping out the window in French class to South Africa, B.C. and many football and rugby trips to the GTA, it doesn't seem like 6 years. It's your story.

No other team but the A team. Constantly snapping up victories, A-house really made their story this year and will keep up the streak for the ones to come. Starting off the year with the house run, all of our snapchat best friends helped raise our overall score and brought us to first place, putting us in great standings at the early stages of the year. The next big event that Alexander house swooped in was the winter carnival, which was combined with the junior school. The athletic abilities of all the house members shone through on this cold winter day, but we brought home another victory for the house and maintained our lead. As yellow is comparable to gold and gold is the symbolic colour of winners, Alexander house grads kept up the streak and got us another trophy worthy win with their iconic house skit performance of 'An Italian Toy Story'. Through all the big and small triumphs of the house, the A team really kept true to its name and stayed the top of the class. There's a reason why it's the yellow heart on snapchat.

CONNAUGHT

Connaught gives you wings.

During the 2015-2016 school year, Connaught came out strong and passionate. We showed tremendous effort during the House Run and the Winter Relay. As the year progressed, events like trivia, balloon-stomp and karaoke proved that C-HOUSE is full of talent in many ways. We wear our red proudly and never fail to be the loudest and most spirited house. Many thanks go out to the incredibly dedicated C-House Council lead by Mr. Taylor. All participants in events and competitions this year also deserve a shout-out for their support! C-WHAT??? C-HOUSE!!! C-WHAT??? C-HOUSE!!!

NEW

Green is the new black.

Becoming "New house Co-captains" this year was a very exiting process from meeting our counterparts to getting to know our housemasters. From the start we learned how to contribute to our house and the sprit of the school. Our first task was designing house clothing, while this was a long and tedious task it allowed us to work with our house council for the first time and collaborate on a task together as a team. Throughout the year we have worked together on countless occasions and will remember many highlights that we shared together such as organizing and running school dances along with house competitions and even school wide events. For anyone that is contemplating applying for a house captain role in the years to come we strongly suggest it as it is a great way to give back to the school all the while promoting sprit and enthusiasm. I can't say that new house is going to win the Wilson shield this year as promised in every single house captain speech ever but what we learned was that at the end of the day being able to create memories with your house by leading and engaging students is much more valuable.

WOOLLCOMBE

Woolcombe by birth

Winners by instinct

United by choice

Over the years Woolcombe's definitely acquired a certain reputation amongst the school. The title of 'underdog' is one that really went away as we planned and excelled in various house events. The amount of pride and family associated with our reputation meant we never stopped persevering and trying as best we could. No matter the circumstance or disadvantage we were always putting our best foot forward and trying as hard as we can. We're no longer the house in last place all the time and Tom, and I can not say how proud we are of all the amazing people we were so lucky to represent. As a whole I think we all realize the value of participation and how far enthusiasm can take you. From the Battle of the Brains, to Musical Chairs and Karaoke we've fought really hard to maintain our place in second all year. There have been countless laughs, memories, and enough blue to last a lifetime. So proud and honored for the opportunity to lead the best house!

Some grade 10, 11, and 12 students travelled to New York over the April long weekend. We saw many Big Apple monuments, such as Times Square, Brooklyn Bridge, the Empire State Building, and of course, shopped on 5th Avenue. We dressed up for Broadway and ate famous NY street food. Overall, the trip was an incredible experience and everyone who participated came home with memories to last a lifetime.

Community Engagement

This year, the Community Engagement Prefects and their committee assisted in numerous initiatives; ranging from being volunteers at Homecoming in September, advisors for Mental Health Awareness Week, and collecting winter wear for the Snowsuit Fund. They also started a weekly volunteer bus transfer to Boys and Girls Club and Inuit Centre and a Facebook Page to broadcast opportunities for student service "Community service opportunities at Ashbury College". They collected used shoes for Zambia and participated in the Refugee Sponsorship initiative by collecting funds and bikes. Their weekly Community Catchup report at assembly highlighted student volunteers in the community. The committee was responsible for introducing Dress down for Charity in the senior school. Overall, the year was busy with service and engagement activities and the prefects would like to thank the Community Engagement committee for all of their hard work.

The Blazer Magazine had a wonderful 2015-2016 year as several new artists and writers joined our team! We worked collectively to express ourselves through the literary magazine, whether it be crafting articles about school-life, cartoons, satirical pieces, quizzes, film, or everything in between. In the February publication, the first issue released, focused on the theme of "Generations." The contributors (all coming from the highly criticized 'Generation X,') had some fun with the subject and explored what "generations" mean to them, along with how others perceive their age. In our second issue, we opted for a visual, moving magazine to touch on the concept of "Identity." From interviewing students, to artistic coming-of-age pieces, the video expressed several different points of view and allowed the students to connect with the magazine at the last assembly of the year. We've had a very successful school year in The Blazer! Thank you to all the students who continued to stay committed to the publication and allowed for their creativity to flourish in this extra curricular activity.

Community Service

The Students Teaching Students program was a great success this year! With diligent tutors manning the lunch and after school sessions, as well as reliable tutors for one-on-one Junior School interactions, many individuals benefited from STS. The trial online forum also worked well. Thank you to all the students involved with the program!

Community service is a part of the life at Ashbury. In addition to the many hours students have put into community service activities this year, as a school we have raised tens of thousands of dollars and donated gifts for local and international projects. This year's Angels with Backpacks initiative was a huge success. We also supported the Youth Services Bureau's Sleep Out for Youth. Funds from this year's Monte Carlo went to support The Prince Alexander Fund (Round Square), The Ottawa Inuit Children's Centre, and Christie Like Kids. Throughout the year, out of uniform days raised funds to support our own Refugee Sponsorship Initiative as well as Project Sanga, the Youth Services Bureau, Education Foundation of Ottawa and First Nations Child and Family Caring Society.

Ashbury's Debate and Speech club aims to give students opportunities to practice essential public speaking skills and engage in vivid debates. Through the weekly meetings and occasional trips to competitions outside of school, members were able to improve and perfect their skills. In addition, the club held the fall Fulford debating tournament this year, giving unique leadership opportunities to many students.

MUN

Model UN aims to provide students with a better understanding of how the UN works. This year, the educational goals of Model UN were certainly met. Club members were able to participate and learn in a number of conferences, ranging from Toronto to Montreal. As well, numerous simulations were held in-school, including a presentation to the entire school on International Day. Model UN was a great and fun learning experience for all!

earlier this year, the green club had the opportunity to attend the Solar Youth Power event where students from across Ottawa held renewable lanterns in the shape of the sun to symbolize for our government to change into 100% renewable energy. We also got students to think twice about scraping their plates with the Selfie Initiative, with the goal being to get students to only buy what they can actually eat. We later wrapped people's holiday gifts with recycled paper to spread joy and environmental awareness. For Valentines Day, the Green club, with the help of many other students, made a recycled heart to be displayed in the attendance office made completely out of Ms. Rizzuti's famous used red slips. For Earth week, we were able to play whale noises around the CLC to show the importance of keeping our oceans clean and safe. We had a green and blue t-shirt day to help remind students about what our Earth's colours should look like. Most of all this past year, we have joined the Green School Alliance and as an official member of the GSA, the Green Club hopes to achieve our primary goal of reducing Ashbury's carbon footprint by 30%. Our ultimate goal for the green club is to encourage people to go outside and enjoy nature.

Green Club

Envirothon

The Ashbury College Envirothon Team participated in the Eastern Ontario Envirothon over three days in April and May, where we studied a variety of topics including forestry, soils, aquatics and wildlife. The team had the highest score in the Forestry part of the event and placed fourth overall. The team also began a partnership with Tree Ottawa, a local environmental organization, and has started monitoring some trees on campus that we hope to follow for many years. If you are interested in learning more about the environment, join us next fall!

This year Robotics took on VEX, and successfully built robots designed to shoot balls into nets to score points at competitions. We hosted a tournament with three other schools, and participated at the Ottawa-wide tournament at Longfields Davidson High School. Everyone involved in Robotics learned basic coding and building and came out with a firmer understanding of how a robot is built, and how they function.

SMART Team

This year, SMART (Students Modeling and Researching a Topic) researched the unique protein P19. Through the mentorship of Dana Danielson and Dr. Pezacki from the University of Ottawa, members were able to learn about the protein and explore the cutting edge of biology. All the team's learnings culminated in a conference in Milwaukee, WI, where the team presented their knowledge to judges and other students.

Over the course of March Break, the varsity girls rugby team went on a UK tour, travelling to England and Scotland. We played two games against club teams and were lucky enough to have had the chance to share a meal with them afterwards. As well, we participated in Ashbury's first ever 7's rugby tournament. We got the opportunity to explore and indulge in many adventures, including touring the exciting downtown of London and the beautiful highlands in Edinburgh. When we returned, we were proud to say that we are not just a rugby team, we are a family.

Duke of Ed

This year's Duke of Ed students participated in a variety of activities, most notably including a four day dog sledding trip near Algonquin Park. In addition to learning how to dog sled and care for their dogs, students developed their outdoor skills, including learning how to building fires, how to get ice from frozen lakes, and how to cut down trees. Overall, they had a great time developing their leadership and teamwork skills.

For the month of August, we were lucky enough to embark on a Round Square Exchange with Westminster School in Adelaide, Australia! While there, we were able to meet new people, make new friends, and learn about the similarities and differences between Australia and Canada. We got up close and personal with the exotic wildlife, most of which don't exist in the wild anywhere else in the world. Overall, we had an amazing time, and wouldn't pass up the opportunity to go back!

Australia

Singapore

In October 2015, a group of 11 students, Ms. Raina, and Mr. Bailey travelled to Singapore to participate in the 2015 Round Square International Conference. The theme of the conference was "Act Today. Change Tomorrow," focusing mainly on the importance of sustainability in our modern society. In groups, they related each of their discussed topics to the new sustainable development goals put in place by the United Nations. They also got the opportunity to explore the country, gain community service hours, and make new friends from around the world.

During the February long weekend, a group of about 30 students travelled to Orlando for a six-day Disney-Universal Business Leadership and Art Trip. In the mornings, we participated in art and leadership courses, learning about the inner workings of a theme park and how the staff creates a unique experience for guests. The afternoons were spent taking advantage of park time and enjoying Orlando's entertainment, like Cirque du Soleil and the Blue Man Group. We had a great time and can 100% agree that Disney World is The Happiest Place on Earth!

Business Trip to Florida

French Exchanges

The Paris exchange trip is a wonderful way to explore the city, practice your French, and discover a new culture in a very intimate way. This year, the Ashbury students were able to spend 2 months living in Paris with a correspondent's family and attend one of Paris' most historical private schools, all while enjoying daily croissants and macarons, visiting locations such as the Eiffel Tower, the Sacré Coeur, the Arc de Triomphe and Notre Dame, and living life like the Parisians. This trip is an amazing experience and one that you will never regret. After all, how many people can say they've lived in Paris for 2 months?

During the March break, a group of 10 music students traveled to Cuba. The purpose of the trip was to experience Cuba's rich musical culture and heritage. Our ensembles had the opportunity to perform at community centres, an arts school and Havana's famous Jazz Café. We toured Old Havana, experienced Cuba's natural wonders in Pinar del Rio and spent mornings relaxing on the beach. An amazing highlight was attending the Rolling Stones' historic first concert in Cuba. All of this would not have been possible without the help of our tour guide/translator, Guerylyn, our teacher chaperone, Ms. Novick and Mr. Gueulette, who organized the entire trip.

Music Trip to Cuba

Boys Basketball in Italy & Switzerland

The Senior Boys basketball team travelled to Italy to partake in Ashbury's quadrennial basketball tour. The team landed in Milan on Monday March 14th, where they immediately proceeded to touring the city and visiting the beautiful Duomo Cathedral of Milan. The tour lasted for 10 days and included visits to Milan, Lugano, Sienna, Florence, Venice, Tuscany and Rome. The basketball team competed in 5 games whilst on the tour, finishing with a record of 4-1 while competing against the highest level of competition Italy has to offer.

The SYRIAN REFUGEE
Initiative

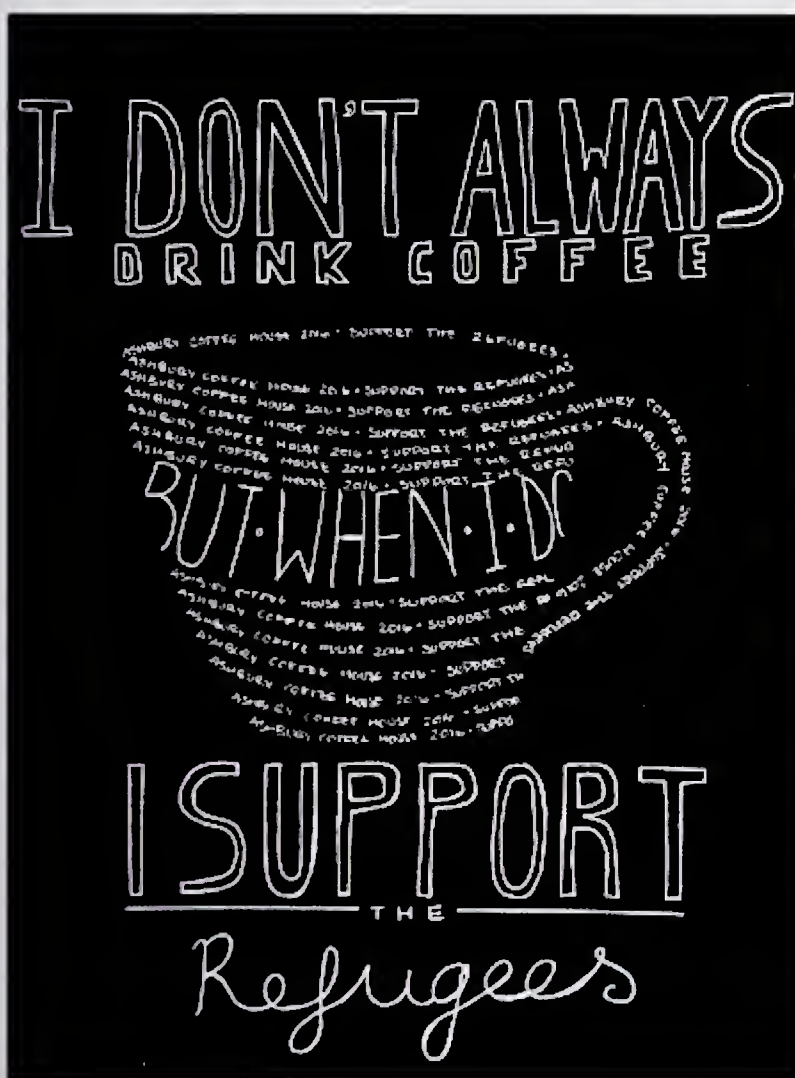

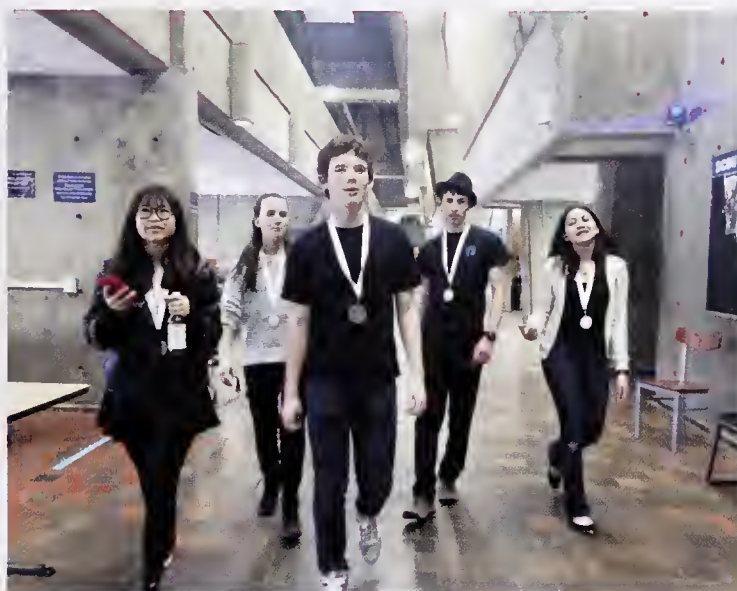

Ashbury's Destination Imagination team, dubbed Maximum Achievement from Fantastically Inventive Ashburians (M.A.F.I.A.), works through the global Destination Imagination program to improve their creative problem-solving and leadership skills.

As part of this program, the M.A.F.I.A. was challenged with hosting an event to meet a community need on the local, national, or international level.

DESTINATION IMAGINATION

They decided to help integrate Ashbury's refugee family into the community by creating a mandala to present to them, increasing awareness about the cause, and raising funds for them.

The entire school collaborated to create a gorgeous mandala, filled with good wishes for the refugee family. M.A.F.I.A. also sponsored the Ashbury Coffee House and the Ashbury Art Show, raising more than $1300 in total.

M.A.F.I.A. competed at the provincial Destination Imagination competition in Toronto and came in first place, making it to globals.

Malcolm Mousseau

"Calm, confident, and aggressive...but not too aggressive." - favourite expression selected by his students.

As a Junior Girls' Volleyball coach, Mr. Mousseau was a supportive, enthusiastic and steady teacher, who valued all his players equally. He was an innovative coach as well, as he was constantly searching for new ways of helping us improve and keeping us organized. From his detailed printed practice outlines to the "Coach's Eye" app, TeamSnap and the words "calm, confident, aggressive", he truly kept practices fun and interesting. I'll never forget the 'spider' drill, the serving-into-hockey-net drill and the drill where we had to crouch over the big gym ball. He rarely ever yelled at us, but pushed us in a different way by telling us what we needed to do to fix our problem such as bending our knees more to get under a serve. I always appreciated that because he presented it as an area of improvement for next time, instead of something I did wrong. Mr. Mousseau: thank you for being an awesome coach for my three years on the Junior team, and best of luck in future endeavours!

1986-2016

Mary Baxter

Mrs. Baxter has been a valuable member of the Ashbury community since 1993, when she began working here. In her over 20 years teaching at Ash, she became the fun, passionate teacher that you were lucky to have a year with. Her expressions in Othello, enthusiastically belting out Iago or Othello's lines will never be forgotten. As an English teacher Mrs. Baxter was a bubbly, energetic force in the classroom; pushing her students to write better and to be interested in the material being taught, not just get through it. She inspired me to delve deeper into Shakespeare, enjoy 1984 and to become overall, a more motivated English student. Outside of the classroom she had a similar attitude, being a great support for any student who needed it, and open to hallway discussion on any topic, from politics to clothing. All the best, Mrs. Baxter! Ashbury will not be the same without you; thank you for constantly making people smile and for inspiring Ashbury students to enjoy literature more.

David Guellette

The sound of Mr. Guellette's guitar class and him singing "Hey Jude" is one familiar to most Ashbury students. Mr. G has been a musical force of nature, making music something often heard drifting out of the Music rooms. Mr. Gueulette is the most respectful, compassionate and humble person I know. Even if he gets our names mixed up in class and report cards, or when he gets frustrated when we don't "watch" and "listen" in class, Mr. Gueulette loves all his students completely. Besides being a talented musician and conductor, words can't describe how caring Mr. Gueulette is. He understands when students are having bad days, he always makes sure we're okay, and he's always there to talk to. I'm positive that the girls in York House School will fall in love with his personality – as it is impossible not to. Mr. G, we wish you all the best in Vancouver, just remember that you'll always have a home back at Ashbury.

Refugee Simulation

In January, Ms Smith, Mme Nally and the Junior School World Issues Club created a simulation activity. This was very timely, given the Syrian refugee crisis. All students participated and role-played as members of family groups, immigration officials or United Nations workers. Our students took the activity very seriously and played their roles well. They offered interesting and valuable insight during the debriefs afterward. This valuable activity brought to life this difficult global reality

Making a shelter

I am the world
Your only home

And you alone
Yet you whip and strip at my golden core
You create global problems
And leave it for the only people you care for children so happy and precious just like a little gem
how do we leave them with such mess to clean up for a I am the world

And you alone

Owl (Free Verse Poem)

I am an owl
So wise and free
I soar through the night
Watching, waiting
I see everything that happens
From high above
I hear the sound
Of a frantic heartbeat
From far below
I soar down and grab the vole
That frantically sprints into my talons
I soar up and start to see the approaching storm into which I must go
In front of me, I dimly see my tree, so far ahead of me
I soar through the black clouds
And dive far, far down
Back to my tree
And when I look out of my hollow
The clouds part
And I see the sun
Rising up
And I know
I must rest
For the next test is yet to come

Who I am

Do you know who I am
Do you care to know my story
Do you know my journey
Do you know what's inside me
Or do you just like to judge me
I am not a passenger passing by, I am not a flower who is going to die
I am not the wind who just drifts right by
I am not a drop in the ocean
I am the story of strength,
I am the flower who spreads the scent
I am the ocean you want to be
But I am the one who wants to be me!

Closing Ceremony

The June Closing Ceremony is always a bittersweet moment. The long awaited summer is finally upon us and we are all ready for the change of pace. We have the chance to celebrate all of the successes achieved throughout the year but we also tearfully say goodbye to the teachers who are leaving us for other adventures. This year's ceremony took place in MacLaren Hall which was a lovely new venue. The ceremony concluded with the much anticipated throwing of Grade 8 blazers and a beautiful reception on the lawn. Congratulations everyone!
